

FEATURE Crowned Magnificence

EDITORIAL Crowns among other things

MESSAGE University Student Regent

NEWS

Sports Dev director on medical exam on first day of EVSUlympics: "no biggie"

By JAMES WELL M. GORME / THE INDUSTRIAL WHEEL

After complaints on the conduct of medical examination for studentathletes even during the opening of this year's Sports. Culture and the Arts Festival circulated among delegates, the Director Sports Development of clarified that this does not pose any consequence to the integrity of the annual sporting event.

Dr. Marlon E. Lora explained that the medical was not late but was rather an extension due to a huge number of athletes participating especially from the Main Campus.

"Before you can play, we will be checking all of your requirements especially your medical certificate since it was clearly stated in the guidelines that "no medical certificate, no play," Dr. Lora said.

According to Dr. Rosilla Salud, she was attending to the external campuses last week that is why the athletes from the main and the other campuses should have had their medical examination earlier.

PHOTO BY JM LLORAG / THE INDUSTRIAL WHEEL ELEVENTH HOUR. Student-athletes from the Main Campus line-up at the Medical Clinic to have their physical exam on the first day of the Sports, Culture and the Arts Festival 2018.

The submission of the requirements for student-athletes was on September 29-30.

Moreover, the unexpected change of venue for the Sports, Culture and the Arts Festival 2018 resulted to a late acquisition of medical examination of the athletes.

Giovanni Sosing, a COE basketball player said, "We did not know since we are just students. They are the faculty so we do not have the rights to ask why they still had it on the first day of intramurals." He also said that it might be unfair since it is a hassle for them as a student. He even said that the medical examination should be done days before the event.

Dr. Lora, however, explained that there is no need to worry about still having the medical examination last Monday since there is still no game but assured that the tournament managers shall not allow athletes who were not able to comply a medical certificate.

NEWS

Mayor Goma offers aide to OCC athletes

BY NELSON PALLOC JEREMY LLORAG/ THE INDUSTRIAL WHEEL

In support of the Ormoc City Campus delegation, the City Government of Ormoc, through its mayor, Hon. Richard "Goma" Gomez, lend some sports equipment to the teams competing on this year's Sports, Culture and the Arts Festival.

OCC's baseball, softball, soccer and dance sports team received the assistance in order to further hone the skills of the players to become competitive.

29 orgs take on SSG booth dare

BY ALIEZA JEAN T. BULACOY / THE INDUSTRIAL WHEEL

In celebration of this vear's Inter-Campus Sports, Culture and the Arts Festival, the Supreme Student Government (SSG) of the Main Campus challenged the accredited organizations of the university in an entertain bazaar competition.

PHOTO BY CM TABUENA

ALL-OUT SUPPORT. The City Government of Ormoc City assisted the OCC delegation by donating uniforms for the soccer team and lending their baseball team some equipment.

"The City Government let us borrow their equipment on the softball and baseball during our trainings and up until now" said Franz Martin S. Callano, baseball coach of OCC.

Other than the equipment lent to the baseball team, the City Mayor likewise sponsored the uniforms of OCC's soccer team.

Furthermore, Mayor Gomez also shouldered the talent fee paid to the trainers of Ormoc dance sports athletes.

It was however clarified that there was no direct monetary assistance provided by the City Mayor other than the equipment and sponsorships. •

Food Bazaar, Photo Booth, Videoke, Face Painting and the likes entertained the different delegations despite the bad weather condition.

Every day, a different set of SSG officers and university officials will serve as judges for the said competition starting Tueday.

Up for grabs are the "Most Creative Booth" and the "Most Visited Booth" BOOTH continued on Page 5

Twenty-nine course, service, and values-oriented organizations took the weeklong challenge and put up their respective booths at the College of Business and Entrepreneurship and College of Arts and Sciences. "This is the perfect time to all of us students to have fun and to relay from our to all of us students to have fun and to relax from our studies," said Joenuel C. Ramos, SSG President.

NEWS

4

Eleven eagles belt soaring pitches in musical showdown

VOCAL MASTERS. Delegations from different EVSU campuses sang their hearts out to prove that they deserve to represent the school in the regional stage by outshining the other delegates.

By REBECCA JOY A. ESCLEO / THE INDUSTRIAL WHEEL

Singing their lungs out, representatives of the different competing teams tried to outshine each other in the musical competition with their artistic renditions and on-pitch vocal prowess, yesterday, at the EVSU Auditorium.

Eleven teams competed in the Live Band, Chorale Contest, Instrumental Solo, Vocal Solo, Vocal Duet, and Pop Solo showoffs intended to select the musicians who will represent the school in the regional PASUC competition.

COE, CAS, Ormoc Campus and Tanauan Campus rocked the house in the Live Band competition while COE, COBE, COED, Burauen Campus and Tanauan Campus sang in unison during the Chorale Contest.

COED, CAS and Ormoc Campus showed off their musical proficiency in the competition while Carigara Campus, Burauen Campus, Ormoc Campus, Dulag Campus, Tanauan Campus, COED, COBE, CAAD, COE and CAS serenaded the audience in the Vocal Duet.

Instrumental Solo

Carigara Campus, Burauen Campus, Dulag Campus, Tanauan Campus, Ormoc Campus, CAAD, COE, COBE and CAAD battled it out in the Pop Solo while COBE, CAS, COE, COED, Dulag Campus, Tanauan Campus and Ormoc Campus tried to outshine each other in the Vocal Solo.

"We need to have fun and most of all we love what we are doing. We do not take the show as a competition, just for fun," said Ricky Jay Estopin, a live band participant from Ormoc Campus.

Announcement of winners will be this coming Friday, October 26. •

Make-shift galley causes fire at EVSU construction site

By CLIFFORD F. COLIBAO / THE INDUSTRIAL WHEEL

Some Php 17,000.00-worth of property got seared after construction workers left their make-shift cooking area glowing to dry some firelog yesterday.

Said incident happened at the Richmark Construction Building Area at around 8 PM while the coronation of the Mr. and Ms. EVSU 2018 was happening at the Auditorium.

According to the report filed by the security guard on-duty, Officer Elmer B. Barbosa, a certain Jomar Rosite, a construction worker of Richmark Construction, placed logs on top of the woodstove to let it dry. Unfortunately, these caught fire and hit the electrical wirings.

Officer Barbosa immediately reported to Chief Security Officer Neil M. Binghoy and called for assistance from the Bureau awards.

BOOTH continued on Page 3

"It was a very challenging job, from the bad weather, the scarcity of electricity power, the set-up, but it was enjoyable though.

PHOTO COURTESY OF THE SECURITY OFFICE

SAFETY HAZARD. Properties near the Mechanical Engineering department caught fire after construction workers dried some fire logs at their make-shift cooking area. The construction worker responsible for the said incident has already been reprimanded.

of Fire Protection and TACRO 8. Both of which arrived at the incident five minutes after.

"The fire was almost out when they arrived thanks to the help of the construction workers who were there," Chief Barbosa said on his report.

An air-conditioning

We even forgot that this is a competition because we are just smiling and laughing the whole day which is what we really wanted – that is to have fun," said Marvin Yao from Break Point, a values-oriented organization unit worth 15,000 pesos and electrical wirings amounting to 2,000 pesos were the damaged properties in the custody of Prof. Teodorico M. Urgel.

The BFP cut off the breaker to prevent electrical shock on grounded areas and moved out of the premise by 8:18 PM. • participating in the said competition.

The winners of this competition will be announced on Friday during the awarding ceremony at the EVSU Auditorium. •

NEWS FEATURE

Crowned Magnificence

PHOTO COURTESY OF AN SULOG

PAIR CROWNS FOR A PAIRED EAGLE. Ormoc City Campus bets for the Mr. and Ms. EVSU 2018, Ritzie Maning and Ma. Kim Bocao snatched the two most-coveted crowns of the university, earning the right to choose to represent the university in either the Regional SCUAA Meet or the Regional PASUC Festival some time next year. The pair is the first to be crowned Mr. and Ms. EVSU from an external campus for the last five years or so.

By NICANDRO L. PATARAY JR. / BATINGAW

Picture this. An aerial silk acrobat moving gracefully midair, the crowd wild and gets the surroundings feel thicker and thicker by the second while flags and banners wave above-head. Euphoric. That is one word to describe the most awaited night of the week - the search for Mr. & Ms. EVSU 2018. And that was just the beginning.

Mr. & Ms. EVSU

is an annual battle of beauty and wits wherein participants from different colleges as well as external campuses gather to prove themselves worthy of the title. This year, each delegation embodied the characteristics of an eagle: brawny, majestic, soaring, kingly, noble, fearless, fierce, buzzard, might, magnificent, and relentless. These eagles clashed on stage armed with their alluring beauties and witty rebuttals. "I'll do my best and God will do the rest" said one of the contestants.

The candidates graced the stage in different attires flaunting their welltoned physique leaving the crowd in awe. Their names echoed all around the EVSU auditorium as their respective teams tirelessly supported them. But, for a moment the crowd fell silent as the participants had to face the O & A portion. fact: Interesting the questions were formulated by random students within the campus which highlighted topics relating to univ-related issues, politics, and the LGBTQ community. Fingers were crossed and the heavens were filled with prayers hoping that their bets would be able to pull it off.

NEWS FEATURE

In the end, two eagles outshone their rivals. The cool part is, they come from the same pack. Ritzie Maning and Kim Bocao of the Ormoc City Campus were hailed as the King and Queen of the night.

"We are living in a society with a diversity of culture. What we need to uphold the ideals is camaraderie because it is equivalent to the "bayanihan spirit" and "pintakasi", was Maning's winning answer, raising cheers of approval from the spectators.

M e a n w h i l e , unbeknownst to many, Bocao, was under the weather during the event. However, propelled with determination in bringing home the crown, she fought back with all her might saying, "You need to fake your fear into fierce and be happy because if you are not confident enough your performance will not be good."

7

Indeed, it was a night to remember for even in the middle of a battle, the camaraderie between the EVSUnistas prevailed as everyone held each other's hands during the whole experience. And yet a new set of beauty and brains emerged, ready to bring pride and dignity to the name of our beloved alma mater as they prep for their next quest - the regionals and nationals.

AMBASSADORS FOR SPORTS, CULTURE AND THE ARTS. Reigning as the Mr. and Ms. EVSU 2018 court, Mr. and Ms. Sports, Manuel Gaviola (CAAD)Jennica Renomeron (Burauen) and Mr. and Ms. Culture and the Arts, Angel Rus Tambal and Nigel Bandoy, both from the College of Engineering will serve as the school's ambassadors for the entire year.

EDITORIAL

Crowns among other things

It is interesting to note that our latest Mr. and Ms. EVSU are not from the Main Campus – the first pair to snatch the crown and have the privilege of representing the system in the regional stage from the Main Campus in the last five years or so. Moreover, in the latest score tally, the external campuses rank higher than the colleges of the Main Campus. This feat makes one realize that the external campuses really do need to be given more attention in terms of university representation.

The notion of the external campuses not given enough exposure and opportunities to raise the university

8

EDITORIAL

different banner in competitions and confab has long been a crying issue. Most often than not, those who are in the Main Campus get to have the privilege of travelling and experience firsthand the pressure and the learnings one gets from being exposed to such events. This somehow translate to the feeling of insecurity by the external campuses and create a stigma of "hira-hira man la liwat ton permi."

Fortunately, this Sports, Culture and the Arts Festival is becoming a wake-up call to the admin that our external campuses also sport tremendous amount of talent and likewise deserve attention in terms of holistic student development. Creating more programs wherein students can have equal opportunities to grow beyond the classroom will propel our university into higher rankings since we will truly pick the "best among the rest" to represent us in different stages and arenas.

SPORTS 2018 Festival

University Student Publications Ad Hoc

Jericson Narido — Editor-in-Chief, Talutang Jobert Flores — Associate Editor, An Sulog Christianne Faith A. Mahinay — News Editor, The Industrial Wheel

THE INDUSTRIAL WHEEL

Clifford F. Colibao, Alyssa Isabel D. Pagarao, Dan Jake Basalo, Angeline B. Barsana, Charmaine Joy B. Rondina, Erwin M. Elicot, Jr., James Well M. Gorme, Niño Robin R. Piamonte, Jon Alec Mendel G. Adona, Carlo T. Encomio, Pauline Joyce L. Lagmay, Carlo D. Realino, Joshua D. Padel, Annisa S. Yangzon, Lyra Llyra B. Arpon, Cherry Mae L. Tabuena, Mary Cris B. Acosta, Jeremy M. Llorag, Marlo R. Abunales, Jr., Jionel C. Carlos, James Seth A. Capacite, Christian Kent B. Agner, Alieza Jean T. Bulacoy, Rebecca Joy A. Escleo, Jean Maica G. Velasco, Nelson B. Palloc, Joel D. Rosario, Jr.

AN SULOG

Ian Lacdao, Vic Pido, Mark Joel Bacano, Kyla Ramilo, Jazzy Ilumba, Aura Basilio, Cathy Echo, Princess Ilurag

BATINGAW

Francisco Y. Abendaño, Aljun M. Pica, Mildred Tañola, Joshua Espina, Nicandro L. Pataray, Jr., Georgette D. Villasin, Kenneth P. Permejo, James Bernega, Johnsel Zabala, J. Merrill M. Calda

TALUTANG

Jesusa Mary Avila

Rex B. Palompon, LPT - Head/Technical Adviser

"Those medals are just the consolation prizes; the real and major prize is the friendship that we acquire that guides our growth as an individual."

Anchored with the theme: "Engage. Enrich. Elevate." this year's Sports, Culture and the Arts Festival had emerged within the campus which has built a platform that adds up the factors of us being more involved students. as We have become our own advocates of giving engagement for our sports, giving enrichment to our culture and also by giving a certain elevation for the arts, however, after this week-long festival, what do we gain in the aftermath? We gain more than what meets the eye.

Some would believe that their purpose to compete in an event like this is to bring home the medals or trophies but honestly, there is something more than winning than those alike. Something that is more precious than gold, something that can also be wielded by fire to test its authenticity. It is something that will really stay longer in our lives, come hell or water— those are the friendship and values we achieve along the way.

Those medals are just the consolation prizes; the real and major prize is the friendship that we acquire that guides our growth as an individual. We get to siphon the true spirit of sportsmanship, friendship and values. It sounds cliché, some would sav. but this is still a continuous practice and sadly only few have mastered it. Students and other party involved in this event should be able to seek out the reason why the university is holding such event-bringing unity a midst diversity.

This has been a stereotypical thought that events like these are all about the medals, trophies, scented papers with our names in it or maybe crowns; that's a thought that should be eradicated in our minds and in our hearts, like what the Vice President for Academic Affairs (VPAA), Dr. Dennis C. De Paz said, "competition is not a matter of winning but it is a matter of showing how you play the game or how you compete."

Play fair, earn hard. Let us be reminded that we are all winners, one way or another because everything will turn into a memory and if we will leave it as a memory, might as well have a golden one to bring along when our hairs turn to silver already.

Vox Scholaris OP-ED

How was your experience during the opening ceremony?

Compiled By JEAN MAICA G. VELASCO

Exciting and amazing tas medyo makulba kay bangnin may ma slide na performer pero okay la." Markg Marisyo an performance han taekwondo team tas han flashmob. Jack As an EVSU student proud ak mgan mas maupay kun igimprove pa." zA1

Makulba pero enjoy, as a performer exciting, pero dire man namon meant makig-compete gusto la nam ig enjoy ngan soliton it experience. Waray kasayang nam pag-prinactice." несьс китту

Na amaze ako han performance han Taekwondo team labi na han mga bata kay mga bata pala magkarit na. API Bet ko an mga logo kay bagan tribal. vivik

Naexpect ak hit maupay ngan patas na competition. cas we are one

Maupay an kanan COE kay mayda professor na bumulig ngadto han ira pag perform. cute

Maupay an mga presentations pero pinaka-naupayan talaga ako han Burauen kay maupay an message han ira mob dance performance," ANN

Amazing an pag-light han torch together han effects han lights han different eagles, everything about han event marisyo. cκ

It was a really great and exciting experience. Black Lover

Marisyo, awesome, marisyo ngan astig labi na an nagperform han kalayo." YAM

LITERARY

BY CD REALINO

Message from the University Student Regent

Sports has always been an important source of aspirations and inspirations of mankind ever since. It changes personality, perceptions and the way of life of an athlete.

With the theme Elevate," "Engage, Elevate. the ad hoc editorial board of the EVSU - University Student Publications decided to create special issue dedicated а to sports to emphasize its importance and value. Thus, students and instructors of the different campuses of the university may develop camaraderie unity. and sportsmanship throughout the duration of the culture & art festival.

Despite the undeniable fact that we lack in facilities for sports and necessary place for the delegates, still the athletes and coaches are determine to return to their respective campuses with pride and honor. Giving the best they could do, pushing themselves beyond their limits in the chosen event. Indeed, the true spirit of sportsmanship being manifested over this so-called hindrance, for EVSUnistas are sports enthusiasts! Engaging the athletes and training them both physically and mentally to excel in their chosen events. enriching their potentials and abilities with the purpose of excellence, elevating their mentality that sports is part of our lives and one way to support peace and unity of the EVSU system.

Expounding the ways of an eagle to every individual in this university; the eagle's eye-view from the sky and their way of skipping the storm, how they soar high above other birds! Which is the mission & vision of this university to soar high, compete and be innovated globally not only in academic aspect but also in sports!

Long-lived sports enthusiasts, long-lived EVSUnistas!

Hon. JOBERT F. BRIONES Student Regent, EVSU System

PHOTO GALLERY

Preliminary Games

BY JM LLORAG & CML TABUENA

Musical Contest

BY JM LLORAG & CML TABUENA

PHOTO GALLERY

Mr. and Ms. EVSU 2018 Grand Coronation Night

BY JM LLORAG & CML TABUENA

ENTERTAINMENT

Dahil All

BY KENNETH P. PERMEJO / BATINGAW

Apply ice to the burnt area

BY KENNETH P. PERMEJO / BATINGAW

