and officers of the duly recognized alumni association in each University Campuses, respectively.

- 1.6. Section 2¹⁷, Article II, and Section 1¹⁸, Article III of the By-Laws duly registered at the SEC, provide for the qualifications and manner of elections of the Board of Trustees and Officers of the Federation of Alumni Associations of EVSU, Inc., respectively.
- 1.7. Relatedly, the term of office of the President of the Federation of Alumni Associations of EVSU, Inc. is mandated under Section 11²¹, Rule IV of the IRR of R.A No. 8292.
- 1.8. In Carlos v. Angeles, etal. citing Gonzales v. Commission on Elections, 129 Phil. 7, 33 [1967]; Taule v. Santos, 200 SCRA 512, 519 [1991], citing Hontiveros v. Altavos, 24 Phil. 636 [1913], Taule v. Santos, citing Javier v. Commission on Elections, 228 Phil. 193, 205 [1986], Cf. Sunga v. Commission on Elections, 351 Phil. 310, 326 [1998], Geronimo v. Ramos, 136 SCRA 435, 446-447 [1985], the Supreme Court unequivocally ruled that,

“In this jurisdiction, an election means “the choice or selection of candidates to public office by popular vote” through the use of the ballot, and the elected officials of which are determined through the will of the electorate. “An election is the embodiment of the popular will, the expression of the sovereign power of the people.” “Specifically, the term ‘election’, in the context of the Constitution, may refer to the conduct of the polls, including the listing of voters, the holding of the electoral campaign, and the casting and counting of votes.” The winner is the candidate who has obtained a majority or plurality of valid votes cast in the election. “Sound policy dictates that public elective offices are filled by those who receive the highest number of votes cast in the election for that office. For, in all republican forms of government the basic idea is that no one can be declared elected and no measure can be declared carried unless he or it receives a majority or plurality of the legal votes cast in the election.” (Bold italics underscoring supplied).

On the other hand, as defined in Black’s Law Dictionary (Revised Fourth Edition, 1968), qualification means,

The possession by an individual of the qualities, properties, or circumstances, natural or adventitious, which are inherently or legally necessary to render him eligible to fill an office or to perform a public duty or function. Thus, the ownership of a freehold estate may be made the qualification of a voter; so the possession of a certain amount of stock in a corporation may be the qualification necessary to enable one to serve on its board of directors.

Cummings v. Missouri, 4 Wall. 319, 18 L.Ed. 356; Hyde v. State, 52 Miss. 665. (Bold and underscoring supplied).

Qualification for office is "endowment, or accomplishment that fits for an office ; having the legal requisites, endowed with qualities suitable for the purpose." State v. Seay, 64 Mo. 89, 27 Am. Rep. 206. (Bold and underscoring supplied).

- 1.9. “Section 672. Prohibitions. – To avoid conflict of interest and provide opportunities to alumni who are working in the private sector or government agencies to assist the University in the realization of its mandates, vision, mission, goal and objectives, no alumni who are connected with the University, in whatever capacity, shall be qualified from seeking election in any position/s in the Federation of Alumni Associations.

No. 138965, June 30, 2006)²³.”

Further, the provisions of these Guidelines shall be applied in favor to the EVSU-FAA, Inc. as the Duly Recognized Federation of Alumni Associations (DRFAA) representing the Alumni Sector of the University to the EVSU-Board of Regents and such recognition extends to its Member-DRAA/O as provided for under its August 20, 2004 amended Articles of Incorporation and By-laws submitted to and received by the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) on September 22, 2004.

Section 3. Definition of Terms. – The following terms shall be understood, interpreted and applied as expressly defined hereof:

- 1.1. By-Laws – refers to regulations, ordinances, rules or laws adopted by an association or corporation or the like for its government. See Kilgour v. Gratto, 224 Mass. 78, 112 N.E. 489, 490. But of late the tendency is to employ

²² Section 7, par. 2, Article IX-B of the 1987 Constitution;

“Unless otherwise allowed by law or by the primary functions of his position, no appointive official shall hold any other office or employment in the Government or any subdivision, agency or instrumentality thereof, including government-owned or controlled corporations or their subsidiaries.”

²³ Public Interest Center, Inc. etal vs. Elma (G.R. No. 138965, June 30, 2006), citing Quimson vs. Ozaeta, 98 Phil. 705 and People vs. Green, 13 Sickels 295, 58 N.Y.295, 1874WL 11282 (N.Y.), the Supreme Court held:

“The general rule contained in Article IX-B of the 1987 Constitution permits an appointive official to hold more than one office only if allowed by law or by the primary functions of his position. In the case of Quimson v. Ozaeta, this Court ruled that, [t]here is no legal objection to a government official occupying two government offices and performing the functions of both as long as there is no incompatibility. The crucial test in determining whether incompatibility exists between two offices was laid out in People v. Green - whether one office is subordinate to the other, in the sense that one office has the right to interfere with the other.

[I]ncompatibility between two offices, is an inconsistency in the functions of the two; x x x Where one office is not subordinate to the other, nor the relations of the one to the other such as are inconsistent and repugnant, there is not that incompatibility from which the law declares that the acceptance of the one is the vacation of the other. The force of the word, in its application to this matter is, that from the nature and relations to each other, of the two places, they ought not to be held by the same person, from the contrariety and antagonism which would result in the attempt by one person to faithfully and impartially discharge the duties of one, toward the incumbent of the other. x x x The offices must subordinate, one [over] the other, and they must, per se, have the right to interfere, one with the other, before they are incompatible at common law. x x x” the word "ordinance" exclusively for this class of enactments, reserving "by-law" for the rules adopted by private corporations (Black's Law Dictionary, Revised Fourth Edition, 1968).

²⁵ Meeting as judicially interpreted in Lim V. Moldex Land, Inc., et al., G.R. No. 206038, January 25, 2017 of which the Supreme Court held:

"In corporate parlance, the term "meeting" applies to every duly convened assembly either of stockholders, members, directors, trustees, or managers for any legal purpose, or the transaction of business of a common interest.²⁵ Under Philippine corporate laws, meetings may either be regular or special. A stockholders' or members' meeting must comply with the following requisites to be valid:

1. The meeting must be held on the date fixed in the By-Laws or in accordance with law;
2. Prior written notice of such meeting must be sent to all stockholders/members of record;
3. It must be called by the proper party;
4. It must be held at the proper place; and
5. Quorum and voting requirements must be met

Of these five (5) requirements, the existence of a quorum is crucial. Any act or transaction made during a meeting without quorum is rendered of no force and effect, thus, not binding on the corporation or parties concerned.

In relation thereto, Section 52 of the Corporation Code of the Philippines (Corporation Code) provides:

Section 52. Quorum in meetings. - Unless otherwise provided for in this Code or in the by-laws, a quorum shall consist of the stockholders representing a majority of the outstanding capital stock or a majority of the members in the case of non-stock corporations.

Thus, for stock corporations, the quorum is based on the number of outstanding voting stocks while for non-stock corporations, only those who are actual, living members with voting rights shall be counted in determining the existence of a quorum.

To be clear, the basis in determining the presence of quorum in non-stock corporations is the numerical equivalent of all members who are entitled to vote, unless some other basis is provided by the By-Laws of the corporation. The qualification "with voting rights" simply recognizes the power of a non-stock corporation to limit or deny the right to vote of any of its members. To include these members without voting rights in the total number of members for purposes of quorum would be superfluous for although they may attend a particular meeting, they cannot cast their vote on any matter discussed therein."
